Infrastructure Assistance Coordinating Council

What is the IACC?

The IACC is a non-profit organization made up of staff from state and federal agencies, local government associations, non-profit technical assistance firms, and universities. It's been in existence for over 15 years.

What does the IACC do?

Its purpose is to improve the delivery of infrastructure assistance, both financial and technical, to local governments. It does this by keeping members informed of changes in programs or services. About every other year, the IACC sponsors a statewide workshop where all of the programs assisting local governments with their infrastructure needs convene to discuss programs with local government representatives. The next conference is scheduled for November 2001. The IACC publishes the Infrastructure Assistance Directory and maintains a database of current program information, you can view it at www.infracfunding.wa.gov

Who makes up the IACC?

Over 215 federal and state programs are listed in the website. Approximately 40 are voting members. Local government associations and non-profit technical assistance providers also may be voting members. However, more than one person from a program may participate on the IACC. The list of current member organizations may be obtained by contacting Jacquie Andresen at jacquie.andresen@pwb.wa.gov.

What does it cost to be a member of the IACC?

There is no charge for being a member. Members are encouraged to spend time on projects that help coordinate and improve the delivery of service and to attend the quarterly meetings.
